

The Health Plan Donates $120,000 to West Virginia Food Banks

WEST VIRGINIA – December 28, 2021 – The Health Plan is excited to give back to communities by donating $120,000 to West Virginia food banks. Kicking off their annual “Spirit of Giving” campaign, THP is presenting twelve nonprofits with a $10,000 donation.

THP’s donations will help each organization fill their pantries and provide warm meals to West Virginians in need. These contributions allow each organization to continue changing lives and making an impact across the state.

“We are thrilled to again be chosen to receive this donation from The Health Plan,” said Mitch Webb, executive director of Huntington City Mission. “Because of organizations like The Health Plan, we anticipate continuing our feeding program with no gaps in services.”

“We are honored to help these outstanding organizations in their efforts to better our communities and state,” said Jeff Knight, president and CEO of The Health Plan. “We want to make sure these nonprofits get everything they need to help others during this busy time of year.”
